Management Discussion of Fund Performance

June 4, 2024

This Management Discussion of Fund Performance presents the portfolio management team's view on the significant factors and developments that have affected the ETF's performance and outlook in the year ended March 31, 2024 (the "period"). If the ETF was established during the period, "period" represents the period since inception.

In this report, "Mackenzie" and "the Manager" refer to Mackenzie Financial Corporation, the manager of the ETF. In addition, net asset value ("NAV") refers to the value of the ETF as calculated for subscription and redemption purposes, on which the discussion of ETF performance is based.

Please read A Note on Forward-Looking Statements on the first page of this document.

Investment Objective and Strategies

The ETF seeks long-term capital growth, consistent with protection of capital, by investing primarily in a broad range of equities within developed markets anywhere in the world. The ETF's investments may include investments in emerging markets, and securities of U.S. companies will usually form the largest percentage of assets from any geographic area.

Risk

The risks of the ETF remain as discussed in the ETF's Prospectus.

The ETF is suitable for medium- to long-term investors looking for a global equity fund to hold as part of their portfolio, who can handle the volatility of stock markets and who have a low to medium tolerance for risk.

Results of Operations

Investment Performance

During the period, the ETF returned 15.5% (after deducting fees and expenses). This compares with the MSCI World (Net) Index return of 25.2%. All index returns are calculated on a total return basis in Canadian dollar terms. Investors cannot invest in an index without incurring fees, expenses and commissions, which are not reflected in the index returns.

Global equities rose over the period as central banks slowed the pace of interest rate increases. The global economy was resilient, and employment remained strong. Global equity markets experienced increasing valuation multiples, although gains in the U.S. equity market came largely from a small number of mega-capitalization stocks. Inflation slowed but remained slightly above central bank targets.

Within the MSCI World (Net) Index, Italy, Denmark and the United States were the strongest-performing markets in Canadian dollar terms, while Hong Kong, Portugal and Finland were the weakest. The information technology, communication services and financials sectors were the strongest performers, while utilities, consumer staples and real estate were the weakest.

The ETF underperformed the index, with stock selection in the United States and Switzerland detracting from performance. In sector terms, overweight exposure to consumer staples and health care detracted from performance, as did stock selection in information technology.

Conversely, stock selection in Spain and Canada contributed to performance. In sector terms, lack of exposure to utilities and energy contributed to performance.

Over the period, the ETF's exposure to the United Kingdom decreased as the portfolio management team used a bottom-up investment approach to find opportunities in other markets among high-quality companies with strong risk-reward and valuation profiles.

Net Assets

The ETF's net assets decreased by 32.9% during the period to $15.8 million. This change was composed primarily of $2.5 million in net income (including any interest and/or dividend income) from investment performance, after deducting fees and expenses, and a decrease of $10.2 million due to net unitholder activity (including sales, redemptions and cash distributions).

Recent Developments

In the portfolio management team's view, some of the risks that marked the period remain a source of uncertainty, including higher interest rates than in recent history, inflationary pressures and concerns about a recession. Rather than positioning the ETF for a specific macroeconomic outcome, the team focuses on the long-term prospects of existing and potential investments and views price declines as potential buying opportunities. The ETF targets high-quality companies with proven business models and strong balance sheets that, in the team's view, can better withstand adverse market environments. The team also seeks to strike a balance between short-term protection and long-term returns.

Related Party Transactions

Management Fees

The management expense ratio ("MER") for the ETF during the year ended March 31, 2024, was similar to the MER for the year ended March 31, 2023. Total expenses paid vary from period to period mainly as a result of changes in average assets in the ETF. The MERs are presented in the Financial Highlights section of this report. The ETF paid management fees to the Manager at the annual rate of 0.75%.

The management fee for the ETF is calculated and accrued daily as a percentage of its NAV. The ETF's management fees were used by the Manager to pay for the costs of managing the investment portfolio of the ETF, including providing investment analysis and recommendations, making investment decisions, making brokerage arrangements for the purchase and sale of the investment portfolio and providing other services, and to pay for all costs and expenses (other than certain specified fund costs as more fully described in the Prospectus) required to operate the ETF.

Other Related Party Transactions

The ETF did not rely on an approval, positive recommendation or standing instruction from the Mackenzie Funds' Independent Review Committee with respect to any related party transactions in the period.

Past Performance

The ETF's performance information assumes all distributions made by the ETF in the periods presented are reinvested in additional units of the ETF. The performance information does not take into account brokerage commissions or income taxes payable by any investor that would have reduced returns or performance. The past performance of the ETF is not necessarily an indication of how it will perform in the future.

If you hold this ETF outside of a registered plan, income and capital gains distributions paid to you increase your income for tax purposes whether paid to you in cash or reinvested in additional units of the ETF. The amount of reinvested taxable distributions is added to the adjusted cost base of the units that you own. This would decrease your capital gain or increase your capital loss when you later sell from the ETF, thereby ensuring that you are not taxed on this amount again. Please consult your tax advisor regarding your personal tax situation.

Year-by-Year Returns

The following bar chart presents the performance of the ETF for each of the fiscal periods shown. The chart shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each fiscal period, or on the ETF's inception date (November 22, 2017), as applicable, would have increased or decreased by the last day of the fiscal period presented.

Annual Compound Returns

The following table compares the historical annual compound total returns for the ETF with the relevant index or indices shown below for each of the periods ended March 31, 2024. Investors cannot invest in an index without incurring fees, expenses and commissions, which are not reflected in these performance figures.

All index returns are calculated in Canadian dollars on a total return basis, meaning that all dividend payments, interest income accruals and interest payments are reinvested.

- (1) This information is provided as at the end of the fiscal period shown.
- (2) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, income taxes and withholding taxes, for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period, except as noted. If the ETF was established in the period, the MER is annualized from the date of inception to the end of the period. Where the ETF directly invests in securities of another fund (including other ETFs), the MER presented for the ETF includes the portion of MERs of the other fund(s) attributable to this investment. Any income distributions received from ETFs managed by the Manager, with the intention of offsetting fees paid within those ETFs but which are not considered to be duplicative fees under regulatory requirements, are treated as waived expenses for MER purposes. The Manager may waive or absorb operating expenses at its discretion and stop waiving or absorbing such expenses at any time without notice.
- (3) The trading expense ratio ("TER") represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period. Where the ETF invests in securities of another fund (including other ETFs), the TER presented for the ETF includes the portion of TERs of the other fund(s) attributable to this investment. The Manager may reimburse the ETF for certain brokerage commissions and other transaction costs (including those payable to the custodian or its agents). The Manager may make these reimbursements at its discretion and stop these reimbursements at any time without notice.
- (4) The ETF's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the ETF's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher the ETF's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the ETF in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the ETF. The portfolio turnover rate is not provided when the ETF is less than one year old.
- (5) Closing market price, or the midpoint of the bid and ask prices in the absence of a closing market price, on the last trading day of the period as reported on the Toronto Stock Exchange.
